Drugs Service (Non Opiates) Sheffield

The Drugs Service offers assessment, support and interventions to people using any non-opiate drug. Non-Opiates is a term used to describe all drugs other than opiate based drugs like heroin or codeine, for example, cannabis, amphetamines, steroids, cocaine and crack cocaine and new psychoactive substances (or 'legal highs'). The Service operates from Sidney Street in the city centre and also provides outreach in other services and communities across the city.

Ben's Centre (Sheffield)

Ben's Centre has grown out of a desire within the city for day provision for street drinkers and a commitment from a small group of street drinkers to address the issues they face. In the early 90's a group of street drinkers started meeting regularly as a self-help group to provide mutual support to each other. With the support of a number of individuals they were able to persuade the city council to provide premises for them on Norfolk Row. This became, in 1992, the base for Hexagon, which provided day and counselling service to those in the city who had alcohol misuse problems including street drinkers.
